About the Italian Welfare League

In the 106 years since our founding, the Italian Welfare League has gone from helping Italian immigrants on the New York City piers find jobs and housing to its present mission of helping children of Italian-American descent who are ill or have suffered an emotional trauma. We call these youngsters “I Nostri Bambini,” and have adopted them into our organization of caring members and supporters.

Since 2001, we have raised and donated more than $3,700,000 to provide services to benefit more than 3,000 children. Some of our recipients are children with Smith-Lemli-Opitz Syndrome, Autism, Asperger’s Syndrome, Down Syndrome, brain injury and Epidermolysis Bullosa. Others have cancer, Cerebral Palsy, Multiple Sclerosis, terminal skin disease, or are accident victims. Some of our recipients have lost a parent under tragic circumstances.

The League’s mission is to lend a helping hand to those in need within “La Famiglia.”
